500		One of Marshak's most famous poems, illustrated by Vladimir Lebedev in a flattened, Constructivist style.
520		"Baggage" tells the story of a lady who checks her baggage and her little dog at the train. After the dog becomes lost during the course of the voyage, the train employees substitute an enormous dog for her tiny one, and then respond to her outrage with the suggestion that her dog might have grown during the journey. Frequent repetitions, single-word lines, and abundant rhymes accentuate the humorous, absurdist tone

500   Chromolithographs. Single signature stapled into an illustrated paper wrapper. Publication information and advertisement on page 4 of cover. In this edition, the woman who checks through her dog as luggage on the train is depicted as a stout lady in a fur coat and cloche.
